Healing

“The main element in healing is that of the Soul identified focus. The Soul can heal. In other words, this is natural, a part of the nature of the Soul is to heal. Therefore, the Soul identified focus is basic. This is really all that is necessary. Once the individual focuses and identifies as the Soul, establishes his higher alignment, and moves with the intent to heal, then he calls to himself all the aid that is available. He receives aid from the Second Ray Ashram, he receives the aid of the Christ, he receives the aid of those Healing Devas that are needed at that particular time.”

Meditation

“Your growth and development from this particular point is largely dependent on your meditative efforts, for it is only via meditation that consciousness of the Soul can be achieved, and, via that expansion, a realization within the brain awareness of the Ashramic Group Life...”

Actually, each life at its heart is a meditation. That meditation carried out within the heart of the life by the inner consciousness must be entered into by the outer consciousness before the two can become one.”

The Path of Initiation I & II

“The following texts are the first two volumes of a three volume work known collectively as ‘The Path of Initiation’. Volumes I and II of this series first appeared in 1952 as ‘Creative Thinking’ and ‘The Nature of The Soul’, respectively, while Volume III appeared in 1956 as ‘The Soul and Its Instrument’.

However, in 1957, Lucille completely transformed the earlier texts (into the larger works we published in 2001 and 1993), but kept the earlier titles. Although the two sets of books are very different works, the duplicate titles were confusing, and it became customary to refer to the earlier versions as the ‘short forms’ of C.T. and N.S.

In an effort to relieve this confusion, we have removed the earlier titles and are publishing the ‘short forms’ simply as Volumes I and II of The Path of Initiation. Students of these materials typically find Volumes I & II very accessible, and excellent introductions to the basic principles of The Wisdom.”

The Nature of the Soul

“The human family stands today upon the threshold of a new experience, that of Soul consciousness. Every man, woman, and child incarnate upon the planet is being brought closer to this happening by the force of evolution itself. Just as man is differentiated from the animal, in that he is a self-conscious human being, so shall he make yet another advance in awareness to become a Soul-conscious son of God. No longer must he walk in the shadow of spiritual ignorance, for the Light of his Soul is moving upon his horizon.”

This book is designed to facilitate step-by-step unfoldment from individuality to group awareness and conscious service to the One Life. It is not an intellectual treatise, but a course in self-initiated spiritual growth and development.

How to Study The Nature of the Soul

This booklet is designed to make The Nature of The Soul course more accessible. It includes sections on independent study, study groups, and the meditations. “The information included in the course is presented in a rhythmic sequence. Each lesson builds a foundation for understanding and prepares the way for the next lesson. This progression from one lesson to the next creates a harmonic rhythm which aids the transformation process.”

The Soul and Its Instrument

This early work of Lucille Cedercrans focuses on the instrument of the Soul (the etheric, astral, and mental bodies). With detailed information on their function and accompanying meditation techniques, this course helps integrate the Soul and Its instrument. “The projected consciousness is the creative aspect of the Soul. Its many successive lives in form finally bring it to an understanding of the Law of Cause and Effect. Once it is no longer identified with the personality, its incarnations become acts of service to the race. By this time it has developed its own nature, its inherent characteristics and its own quality.”

Creative Thinking

This is a series of progressive lessons designed to integrate the persona in aspiration to the Soul, and in preparation for The Nature of The Soul course. “As we realize that this world of affairs in which we live is of our own making, we realize the simple truth, that we can change it. Not one person alone, but many of us thinking, feeling, and acting together as God’s children can change it from one of pain, fear, and anxiety, to one of peace, love and harmony. The purpose of this series of instruction is to show how this can be done so as to restore God’s plan on earth. Its goal then, is this — the integration of separately identified human beings into a group consciousness dedicated to the good, the true, and the beautiful for humanity.”

The Disciple and Economy

“This series of instructions clearly outlines The Divine Plan for humanity in its economic aspect. It shows those new economic forms upon which the new civilization can be safely constructed, and by which the Purpose of God can be demonstrated through Humanity. It withholds nothing from the open eye of the disciple, in the economic sense, that will enable him to throw his weight upon the side of Light in the struggle now ensuing between the forces of Light and the forces of darkness upon this planet. It is written in an endeavor to give the modern disciple, in whatever nation, position, or circumstance he may be placed, a basic understanding of the Economy of the One Life and Its Laws, so that he may serve The Plan justly and wisely in the world of mankind.”

Leadership Training

“Cooperative leadership is, in a sense, or results in, the perfect democracy. There is first the ability to be inspired, which is followed by the ability to inspire. This is a prime requisite insofar as cooperative leadership is concerned, and one should realize that the major energy, the primary energy of the leader is that of inspiration.

But this should not create within the concrete mind awareness, the lower consciousness, a misinterpretation as to responsibility. For while the leader is not a dictator as such, he must nonetheless assume the responsibility of his function. Cooperative leadership is actually that cooperation between those leaders who have recognized one another's function and place and give, then, to one another, as well as take, the responsibility to carry out each his function.”

Ashramic Projections

New bound softcover edition of our original four booklets in this series: The Laboratory of the Soul, The Synthetic Ashram, The Ashramic Group Life and Group Initiation, plus an additional three chapters: Group Centers (or chakras, how they function and what their purpose is), Synthesis (this new energy both radiates and absorbs at the same time, producing a motion and a relation of motions), and Synthesis Meditations (various avenues of approach to this new energy and soul/group work).

Wesak

“To aspire for humanity, is to reach out with your mind for an expansion of consciousness sufficient to include the love and understanding you feel in your heart for all your brothers, to be able to translate those feelings into a wise and compassionate conscious awareness. The response to this united aspiration will then be illumination, and it is in complete assurance and joyous receptivity that you approach the full moon period, as a participant in the May Festival.”

The Path of Service

“After having studied the Creative Thinking and Nature of the Soul series, the student finds himself still at somewhat of a loss insofar as service is concerned. This is because he has had no practical experience in the field, plus the fact that he has had no training, either specialized or general, which has been related to service activity alone.

He has acquired knowledge of The Wisdom which he did not have before. He has been introduced to the concept of service. Now he finds himself in the position of the probationer disciple, ready to put what he has learned into right use. He is a bit foggy as to how he can put it to the best possible use in service to mankind.

To help the earnest student, this series of instructions is being projected. It is suggested that all probationers who are considering the entry into a field of service give this series their attention first.” The Path of Service, p. 20
